MAJORITY REACHES 108,759 A Little Philosophy

For the Constitution, Such is Showing of Official Count---Prohibition Majority Dwindles to 18,280---Board Squabbling Over Some Lost Precincts.

Guthrie, Ok., Oct. 9.—Canvassing the vote on the constitution and prohibition amendment was completed today, and, while not officially announced, shows the constitution to have a majority of 108,759. In this instance 252,913 votes were cast, 72,077 being against ratification. On the prohibition amendment 242,765 votes were recorded, 112,244 of which were negative, giving statewide prohibition a majority of 18,280. These figures represent the seventy-five counties, with twenty-six precincts absent out of a total of more than 2,100.

The board declined to announce the result of the count until its attitude toward the missing returns had been determined. A decision on this point was expected when the board met this morning, but instead it announced that arguments would be heard by counsel of both political parties represented.

After finishing the list of counties Mr. Cottingham of Guthrie, representing the republican organization, insisted on the method prescribed therein was proper. In meeting Mr. Cottingham's charges of fraud they pledged the democratic organization's support in punishing the offenders.

Judge Burford announced that the board had determined at the opening that it would accept the abstracts as prima facie returns, save in counties where irregularities were apparent or shown. It was the board's intention, he said, to certify what it determined the vote to be, but that there was now a question of what constituted the returns.

Judge Clayton, the chairman, suggested that a delay of ten days or two weeks would bring all of the missing precincts in and afford the board an opportunity to send to Washington a complete statement of the election on the constitution and prohibition amendment.

He admitted that no one expected the result to be changed, but intimated that the board had a right to know why the full vote was not reported.

The board withheld judgment until tomorrow, when, Mr. Ledbetter stated, counsel would probably ask further hearing.

It is understood tonight that should the board conclude to temporarily hold up announcement of the vote all complete counties will be accepted as per abstract, and that from all incomplete counties only the missing precincts will be sought. In such event it will also determine what constitutes returns.

ed that the actual returns, not the clerk's abstracts, must be received and canvassed by the board in person, as contemplated by the enabling act. Congress, according to him, had left no opportunity for the committee present to delegate its work to seventy-five committees in as many counties.

Mr. Ledbetter of Ardmore, for the democratic party, suggested that it was the rule of law that failure to make returns did not vitiate the election when the whole vote involved would not effect the result. In this both the republican organization, through counsel, and the board concurred. Mr. Cottingham replied that it was not a question of altering the probable result, but a matter of determining whether the missing votes were legally cast, and whether illegal returns had been made here.

He called the board's attention to numerous fraud charges which the republican state committee possessed, and referred particularly to one precinct in Van Zandt Township, Oklahoma county, which the county abstract did not show at all, and wherein, he charged, 395 republican votes had been thrown out. In the matter of canvassing the returns, the board, he thought, was entitled to the poll lists and tally sheets of precincts, instead of a statement from middlemen, which, in this instance, is the county canvassing board.

Mr. Ledbetter and Mr. King, for the democrats held that the enabling act must of necessity be construed with the Oklahoma election law, and that the constitutional convention, in prescribing the route for returns from counties to the canvassing board made a vehicle of the territorial law, which provides that returns be made by abstract, hence poll books, etc., were unnecessary. They pointed out that the enabling act was silent, except that "returns be made to the Secretary of the Territory," and as the Oklahoma law was designated by it for this elec-

SHALL WE BUILD A CITY?

Immediately after the president's proclamation the new state will enter upon a new era, an era of marvelous growth and development.

Even under the blight of carpet bag government the growth has been rapid and wonderful. But there is yet great room for growth. With the removal of shackles which have harassed and impeded, with the wide advertisement this embryo commonwealth's struggles have given it, with such resources as merit wide advertisement, a still greater growth is in store.

Men of muscle and men of means are coming hither; coming to live, coming to work, coming to invest. This influx of men and capital is going to benefit all parts of the state. It will mean more people and more wealth in every town; more land in cultivation; more products to market, more agricultural thrift.

But while there is growth coming for every town, bear this in mind: Some towns are going to grow faster than others and secure a commercial prestige which can never be wrested from them. Within the next five years it will be determined which are to be Oklahoma's leading cities. By that time the state will probably have a metropolis of 100,000 population, two or three other cities of 30,000 to 40,000, and several more of from 12 to 30,000.

Membership in the big bunch, however, will come to no town by chance. That town which sits supinely down and waits for prosperity to fall into its lap is going to get a meager portion, is going to find itself shriveling while an enterprising neighbor climbs toward the metropolitan goal.

The citizens of Ada should wake up to a full realization of these facts. Our people are loyal and hopeful, just as are the people of every town, but that is not sufficient; the bulk of the good things, the great growth, is coming to those burghs that hustle and rustle. Every town will have ambitious rivals for supremacy, and the contest is going to be fast and furious.

Ada has some villagers who must glunge up and become town builders. A hide-bound town can't grow, and its hard for just a handful of men, however progressive, to build a city. The task demands the heart and hand and head and purse of every citizen.

Notable among Ada's needs are another railroad, a railroad division, and some more factory enterprises. Then something must be done in the esthetic line, so to speak; there must be a big handsome auditorium, also a splendid pleasure ground with a plenty of trees and water. These are necessary adjuncts of real town life, things demanded by prospective settlers of capital and taste.

Too many of us selfishly squander all our time and energies on the dollar in the pocket. Let's loosen up and go our length for the republic, build this overgrown village into a genuine city; then there'll be more dollars for everybody.

THE FIRST LEGISLATURE.

The importance attaching to the work of the first legislature of the new state can hardly be estimated, its labors will be along lines calling for the greatest care and discrimination, for some of the tasks are gigantic. It will not only be called upon to enact laws carrying into effect the provisions of the constitution in a general way, but there are questions to arise which will involve many millions of dollars of the public funds, action calling for strict integrity and the best patriotism. The new state is virtually starting with nothing and has everything to buy. Buildings from the smallest country school house to a temporary state capitol must be located and erected. Every county in the eastern portion will have court houses, jails and other public buildings to erect and there will be roads and bridges constructed all over the state. Laws governing procedure in all this work must be enacted, and where all this is to be done there will be attracted an army of lobbyists, eager to fitch from the state.

The proposition of purchasing the segregated school lands, estimated at a value of $17,000,000, will come before the first legislature, as will also the sale of the school lands. These are among the problems in which large amounts of money are involved.

Other work of the legislature will be so material to the welfare of the public as to be beyond estimating in dollars and cents. The many provisions of the constitution must be carried out. There must be early enacted a law prohibiting the marriage of blacks and white. A separate coach and waiting room law should be one of the first passed by the legislature. One relating to the transferring of causes from the state to the federal courts. Another compelling foreign corporations to incorporate within the state. Still another, of the greatest importance, should be a law regulating the suffrage.

The greatest fight the people had in the elections and in the constitutional convention was for relief from the trust burden. The power now given the legislature was won only after a desperate struggle, one in which the monopolistic interests which have so long robbed the people of the two territories fought with desperation and they have not yet given up the battle. They will be found on every hand seeking legislation such as will enable them to continue to charge the people exorbitant prices for the commodities and to keep transportation and other charges at the present status.

The session will probably be a long one and there will be no idle time for the members. The people believe they have selected their best men and they have faith in them to do what is right. There has never been a legislature called together which has had so many matters of the least importance to come before it as this one will have. Work which in other states has been distributed over many years will come up for performance at once in the new state.—McAlester Capital.

ALEX. M. SIMPSON.

American Representative Liverpool
Cotton Importers Visits Ada for Several Days—Guest of Frierson Bros.

The more substantial and refined class of citizens of England are less frequent visitors to America—the land of their distant cousin's nativity, than the American gentlemen to that of the mother country. And whereof there is a reason readily discernable to those who are acquainted with the social and commercial relationship of these two great countries.

When an English gentleman visits us of the interior, in whatever capacity, those of us who are less cosmopolitan take note of him.

It was The News editor's pleasure to become acquainted and make a little country trip recently, as guests of the Frierson Bros., with Mr. Alex. M. Simpson of Liverpool, American representative of Hiles, Wilson & Co., cotton importers, of which firm Mr. Simpson is a member. Mr. Simpson being a student of commercial conditions within the cotton country and especially conversant with the industry of his profession, much pleasure and information were derived through association with such a polite and informed gentleman. Under his direction several stalks of cotton of average growth and fruitage were sent to Liverpool. Mr. Simpson, before his departure from Ada spoke enthusiastically of the prospect of the new state and more especially of Ada, than which he knew none more attractive and promising and where he would prefer to locate if ever changing homes.

Sulphur Raided Again.

Sulphur, I. T., Oct. 10.—While clouds of smoke filled the street, costly gambling paraphernalia from two gambling halls was burned in the streets of Sulphur yesterday after a raid by Bob Bailey, deputy United States marshal. Bailey and his assistants raided several joints and gambling halls. They found no liquor but eight poker players were arrested and fined $11.50 each by the police judge.

Elephant Caused Runaway.

While Mrs. J. E. Webb and baby sat in the buggy near the Methodist church, this afternoon watching the circus parade, the horse took fright at the approach of the elephants, suddenly shied overturning the buggy and hurling the occupants to the ground. Fortunately both mother and babe escaped with superficial bruises.

TEDDY ON THE TRAIL.

Propitious Weather For Presidential Hunting Party.

O'Hara Switch, Near Stamboul, La., Oct. 9.—Not since early morning have any tidings been received from the president's hunting camp and the word then was confined to a mere statement that preparations had been made for a busy day.

The best local judges of the conditions express their opinion that the day must have been one of activity if not of results. The rain has left a faultless sky and the temperature is all that could be desired, neither too hot nor too cold.

These circumstances, taken with the softened condition of the ground which is in the interests of the dogs, the residents say, should make it possible for a party who will go well equipped

WRESTLING WITH A PROBLEM

M. E. Church Debating at Oklahoma City Whether to Draw Color Line by Selecting Separate Bishops for Each Race.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 10.—Will the delegates to the sixteenth annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of Oklahoma, which is now in session at the First Methodist church in Oklahoma City, vote that the race and color line be drawn in the church by the selection of bishops from the various races to preside over the conferences of their own color?

This is one of the proposed constitutional amendments which will be discussed at this morning's session of the conference. The sentiment is strongly against the proposed change, as it is declared by the opponents of the amendment that such action by the Methodists means division of the church, destruction of the Episcopacy of the church and the loss of benefits to be derived by closer connection with the mother church.

The supporters of the amendment deny that such will be the result and declare that bishops of the races would be able to do better work if the color and white race line is drawn.

The Oklahoma conference will vote as one of the 141 conferences of the church on the amendments which were proposed at the last general conference in Los Angeles, Cal., in 1904. The results of the conference voting will be adopted at the next general conference which will be held next May in Baltimore, Md. To make the constitutional change a two-thirds vote cast in favor of the proposed changes must be made.

The question of separate bishops for negroes, Indians, the Chinese, Japanese and the natives of India and Africa was launched at the last general conference when Bishop Scott, the only negro bishop of the Methodist church, was selected for work in India. Twelve conferences have already voted on the question and have turned the proposed amendment down.

to get a bear if there is one in the Bayou Tensas.

Official business is so quiet that Secretary Latta found it possible to close the temporary White House at the field's residence for the afternoon and go out for a pecan hunt.

Is in Excellent Health.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 9.—The president and hunting party started out early this morning in search for bear. Whether conditions are favorable and the guides feel certain the game will be started today.

A report from the camp states the president is in excellent health and keen for sport.

CLARK'S CIRCUS HERE.

Hardly Up to the Average Show Day for Ada.

It is circus day again in Ada. There was the usual "gorgeous parade" the customary complement of teams, frightened by the elephants, and the usual "rubbering" and animation among the people.

But it could scarcely be called a big show day, for comparatively speaking, the crowd was small, and everybody did not stampede to the show grounds.

Considering the size of the outfit, it is said the performance was excellent this afternoon. There will be the usual night performance.

The circus, coming overland last night from Stratford, did not get set up until rather late. Last night on the road it is said there was a free for all fight among a number of the employees, and one man got pretty badly mutilated by another who used a breast yoke.

New Officers in Conference.

In accordance with the appointment the county commissioners and a few others of the county officers-elect assembled at the court house Thursday afternoon to consider preparations for organizing the county government.

The chief matter discussed was the purchase of blank books necessary to equip the various offices for work.

Representatives of a Paris, Tex., printing house were present, and submitted prices. The commissioners are disposed to go about the matter cautiously and deliberately.

Card of Thanks.

I desire with all my heart to thank the great number of people of the Ada country for their showing of kindness and sympathy toward me on account of the death of my husband. Such goodness toward me during this terrible bereavement attests the loving character of my neighbors and friends and lessens the fullness of my cup of sorrow. May heaven bless you all in my prayer.

H. Y. Thompson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and S. C. Heyman, president of the Retail Merchants' association, have issued supplemental proclamations, urging that business cease during the afternoon.

The wholesale houses will close at noon, and the freight offices will do likewise.

Hundreds of yards of red and white ribbon were sold yesterday. The town will be gay with derby day colors.

Old Soldiers' day at the state fair will be Friday, Oct. 11, and arrangements have been made by the management to show the old "Vets" a good time.

Jokers Harass Negro Lovers.

A couple of negro lovers experienced a series of tribulations last night in trying to get married. They fell into the hands of Jailer Adams and some more of the boys down at the court house, who couldn't resist the temptation to have some fun out of them by stirring them hither and thither to the wrong place for getting married.

However, finally, at a late hour, the pair was fortunate enough to find Deputy Clerk Constant who fixed the papers and jerked the desired knot in their relations.

COMMEMORATES LANDING OF PILGRIMS

Monument Marking Landing Place of the Pilgrims.

Not since the stirring days of whale has there been as much excitement occasioned in half-forgotten hamlet of Provincetown, Mass., as followed the announcement that a real, live president of the United States was to honor the place with a visit.

It was to commemorate the landing of the "Pilgrims" that President Roosevelt and a number of prominent citizens attended the dedication of a monument to this epoch-marking event in history.

LIFE LINES IN THE STREETS.

Furnish Safety from the Deadly Clutch of the "Bora."

That which was once Illyria is now Dalmatia, or, rather, that part of Illyria which reaches to the Adriatic is Dalmatia, "the half-forgotten country," as the Austrians called it when it fell into their hands not so many years ago.

It is one of the few bits of Europe that remain in a measure unhackneyed, and it is still out of the beaten paths of the tourist, who himself is almost as much of a curiosity to the people as they are to him. There are seasons, according to a picturesque article in Appleton's Magazine, when the bora blows, that "wind of death," as the natives call it, which comes out of the blue with more than the suddenness of a tornado and shakes the earth and all that is on the earth, stinging, blinding, choking. In the square of Trieste life lines are prominent features, which the citizens must grasp when the bora clutches them, and they grope their way through the whirling dust and the promiscuous missiles flying in the darkened air. But the bora goes as quickly as it comes, and when it is gone the people simply excavate themselves out of the drift and think no more about the winged demon, which has left no trail whatever in the restored serenity of the scoured sky.

HOW NOT TO EAT EGGS.

Frenchman's Caustic Criticism on the American Methods.

He was a Frenchman and on his way to make his first visit to the land of Uncle Sam. At breakfast the first morning after the steamer had left Cherbourg his right-hand neighbor noticed that he was watching some Americans who sat opposite. The meal finished, inquiry was made as to the reason for the Frenchman's interest in what was going on in front of him.

"Did you see them?" he sputtered—the remarks may be freely translated—"did you see them eat the eggs?"

"Why, of course I saw them; what about it?"

"They broke"—this in horror—"they broke the eggs into cups and then messed the mixture with a spoon and ate it."

"Yes. You see, that's the way we Americans eat eggs. We don't crack the top and eat out of the shell, as you do."

"Oh, we do, too—that is, some of us. We fix eggs that way for children who haven't learned table manners."

Owe Lamp Chimney to Child.

The comfortable and convenient lamp chimney of everyday use is to be attributed to a child's restlessness. Argand, a native of Switzerland, a poor man, invented a lamp the wick of which was fitted into a hollow cylinder that allowed a current of air to supply

ROCKEFELLER LIVES IN FEAR.

Dread of Assassination or Robbery Always with Him.

Probably the most complete burglar alarm system in the world is installed in John D. Rockefeller's house at Cleveland. Both the burglar alarm and an intricate signaling system are tested nightly when the master is in the house, and if a defect is found an expert is immediately summoned to repair it.

It is reported, but not confirmed, that Mr. Rockefeller sleeps in a room on the top floor, the only entrance to which is through several other rooms in which trusted lieutenants are stationed. At night brilliant are lamps illuminate the grounds around the Rockefeller house, and at least three men are always on duty patrolling the premises.

Mr. Rockefeller's fear of assassination is such that even in his own house he will not sit with his back to a window. When forced to travel he will never, if it can be avoided, enter the public waiting room of a railroad station, preferring to sit in the baggage room or some other secluded place. It was not vanity, it is said,

NEW GAME FOR FAT BOY.

Cleveland Gamers Have Devised Something Really Novel.

A bunch of small boys who were disporting themselves the other afternoon on a corner near the public square, have discovered a grand new game.

They said it was lots of fun, and it is absolutely harmless. And it is not a game that requires extensive apparatus. The only important requirement to play the game successfully is a real fat boy.

The youngsters who were at it had the fat boy. He was about as fat as a boy as one could mention. With this fat boy and a lead pencil apiece in the hands of the other boys, the participants had everything that was required for the game.

Here is the way the game is played: The first player takes his pencil and places the eraser end against the fat boy's abdomen. Then he pushes the abdomen as far back as it will go and releases the pencil. The fat and muscles bounding back into place act as a sort of a catapult and hurl the pencil for six or seven feet.

Then another boy tries it, and an

SWEDISH PRINCE ON VISIT TO AMERICA

PRINCE WILHELM

Prince Wilhelm, Sweden's "Sailor Prince," who is now on a visit to this country representing his grandfather, King Oscar, at the Jamestown Exposition, is the innocent cause of many and bitter heart pang. These are among that ultra-fashionable set which makes Newport its home and where social war has become rife over the coming of the Prince. There the keenest rivalry was displayed by the society leaders for the honor of entertaining the royal guest. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish was the victor, she having won the honor of entertaining the prince at her palace at Newport.

which prompted him to buy his now famous wig, but the fact that his baldness made him too easily recognized. The oil magnate has two trusted bodyguards, one an Irishman and the other a Swiss. A century or more ago Irish and Swiss bodyguards were the favorites of royalty.

Corked Eggs.

"An ostrich egg," said the sailor, "costs 10 cents in South Africa. It's equal to about two dozen chicken eggs, and lasts close on to a week."

"Out there you open your ostrich egg by makin' a small hole in the point. You shake out as much contents as you need, and then you plug up the opening with a cork and stand the egg away in the refrigerator till it's needed again."

"Plugged carefully, an ostrich egg will supply a week's breakfast omelettes without goin' bad."

Wrath Averted.

The magistrate looked severely at the chauffeur.

"That makes two people you've killed in my jurisdiction," he said.

"Besides five crippled," suggested the chauffeur. "Why that's a peach of a machine. They just can't get away from it."

"What did you say the make was?" inquired the magistrate, who liked an occasional spin himself.

other, until all have had their turn. The one whose pencil flies the furthest wins. About the only drawback to the game is from the fat boy's point of view. Unless there is more than one fat boy playing he is always "it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Bishop Potter's "Job."

To illustrate a point he was making in an address he was delivering the other day, Bishop Potter told the following story: "Not long ago I was staying with a friend in a country house up on the Hudson. On Sunday morning as I passed through the library I found a small boy curled up in a big chair deeply interested in a book. 'Are you going to church Tom?' I asked. 'No,' he replied. 'Why, I am,' I said. 'Huh!' he said, 'that's your job.'"—Harper's Weekly.

New Fly of East Africa.

The new fly of East Africa, described W. Donitz as Cordylobia murium was discovered by Dr. Robert Koch as parasites in the skin of rats suspected of plague. Flies hatched from the maggots in just one month. It is supposed that the eggs are laid in the earth and that the larvae attached themselves to the parts of the rats touching the ground. Larvae of another fly of the same genus are found in boils of railroad builders in Guinea.

PRIDE OF GERMAN SHIPBUILDERS

The new North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie arrived in New York last week upon her maiden trip. The Kronprinzessin Cecilie (Crown Princess Cecilie), is a sister vessel of steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II., which was built in 1903, and was constructed in the same yard at Stettin, Germany. She is put forward by Germany as an example of the ability of the shipbuilders of the "Fatherland."

CANADA'S CANAL TO THE SEA

GEORGIAN BAY ROUTE (BLACK LINE) COMPARED WITH THE ROUTE VIA THE ERIE CANAL (DOTTED LINE).

Many thousands of years ago the Great Lakes are supposed to have discharged their waters through the French river, Lake Nipissing and the Mattawa, Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers into the Atlantic. This is the very route that Champlain followed when he reached the inland seas and gazed over their vast expanse.

Over this route for centuries passed all the traffic between the Canada of the early days and the western outposts of the Hudson's Bay company, and this is to be the route of the Georgian Bay canal, which Canada now proposes to build and which will be by far the shortest waterway between the lakes and the ocean.

The project has been in the air for years, but not till now has it taken definite shape. Many questions have been involved and among them the form the canal should take. Should it be a 14-foot canal for canalboats of large size, or a 20-foot ship canal or a 30-foot ocean steamer proposition, so that great ocean freighters might load at lake ports and unload in Europe?

All the questions have now been answered. For two years the Georgian Bay Canal Commission of Canada has been studying every phase of the enterprise and it is now preparing the plans for the building of the canal.

It is to be a ship canal, providing a continuous and easily navigable waterway, with a minimum depth of 21 feet, from Georgian Bay to tidewater. The cost is estimated at about $105,000,000.

The fact is, there is very little canal to build. Some long stretches in the rivers must be canalized at large expenses and about thirty miles of rocky barrier and a few mud and sawdust banks must be removed, but the whole cost of connecting the lake ports with the ocean will scarcely exceed the appropriation of New York state for the improvement of the Erie canal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported as saying that as soon as the first installment of money is provided he will have the work begun at once.

This will be the nearest approach to an air line water route between the lakes and the Atlantic for which nature has provided facilities. It will make a water channel between the Soo canal and Montreal 350 miles shorter than by way of the Welland canal, the line of least resistance between the lakes and the ocean.

Not a dollar will have to be spent on the route from the Soo canal, the great gateway into Lake Superior, to the mouth of the French river, on the shore of Georgian Bay. The route will hug the Canadian coast, passing through the North Channel, landlocked because the long island of Great Manitoulin is a bulwark against the waves of Lake Huron. Thus a deep and protected channel from one to fifteen miles wide is provided from the Soo to the French river, a distance of 160 miles.

This river drains the waters of Lake Nipissing to Georgian Bay, the lake forming the summit level 70 feet above the bay. At low water the French river carries some 10,000 cubic feet of water a second out of Lake Nipissing and there will be 46 miles of canalization on this river, with three short rock cuts through the rapids.

East of the lake is the divide, which is only about two miles wide and a few feet above Nipissing. Then the descent begins through two small lakes and the Mattawa river, which drops 150 feet into the broad bosom of the stately Ottawa. This river, obstructed by some stretches of rapids and banks of sawdust, is otherwise broad and deep and will carry the lake fleet to the St. Lawrence a little above Montreal.

Producers and shippers in states of the union bordering the lakes have taken a great interest in this project because it promises to give them the shortest and cheapest water route to the Atlantic. Not a few western railroad men are also in hearty sympathy with the enterprise.

J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railroad said a while ago that the Georgian Bay canal would be the most popular enterprise that the Canadian government would have to carry out in many years. When it is completed, he said, we shall see the grain business from north of St. Louis and as far west as grain grows in the Platte valley taking this route to the sea.

Only 32 miles of actual canal would have to be dug, and for the remainder of the distance existing water channels could be used, with considerable dredging here and there. He said that the distance from Chicago or Duluth to Montreal by this route would be a little shorter than the lake routes now in use between these ports and Buffalo.

When the Georgian Bay canal is completed, he predicted that grain would be carried between Chicago or Duluth and deep water at Montreal for 2½ cents a bushel, and refrigerator ships drawing 19 or 20 feet of water could load direct from the packing houses at Chicago and sail to any port in the world during the season of open water of about 200 days. The St. Lawrence is open when the lakes are open.

It is thought that the plans proposed by the Canadian commission will enable powerful whaleback steamers, 280 to 300 feet long, to carry in their holds and in towed barges about 12,000 tons of cargo at an average speed of about 12 miles an hour, and that the time between Chicago and Montreal will be about 103 hours. The time between Chicago and New York by the lakes and improved Erie canal route is estimated at 193 hours. The distance between Montreal and London is 2,820 miles and between New York and London, 3,130 miles.

It is expected that the new canal will have a wonderful influence upon the development of the Ottawa river. It is estimated that with the completion of the canal the water power available along the river will be almost as great as that of Niagara, and for electrical purposes it will be far superior to Niagara, because the power at those falls is confined to a radius of about 50 miles, while the Ottawa river affords water power along 400 miles at convenient distances. With so much cheap power available and with its great resources of iron ore and timber the Ottawa valley is expected to develop into one of the great manufacturing centers of the continent.

The map printed here shows at a glance how much shorter the proposed new route from Chicago and Duluth to the Atlantic is than the present routes through the lakes and the Erie canal to New York.

TOUCHING THE AGE LIMIT.

Rear Admiral Goodrich Makes Some Pertinent Remarks.

In the remarks of Rear Admiral Goodrich, U. S. N., at the alumni dinner, he said:

"As I look over the body of officers I perceive no change from the general attitude which prevailed when I was young. I remember very well the time when I thought every officer over 45 years of age should be retired as too old for active service. In short, gentlemen, youth is radical now as it was radical then; and age is always conservative. But in a sense, I was right when I drew the deadline at 45. Let us free our minds of cant and boldly assert that it is not so much a question of age of body as it is age of brain."

"In the lower grades I recognize an enthusiasm for efficiency which causes turret officers to spend 12 hours out of the 24 with their guns and mounts and connections, not reluctantly but cheerfully. Each aspires to win the blue ribbon of the service and write his name first on the competitive list."

"Do their captains share this spirit and strive to excel their colleagues in the happiness of their ships' companies, the efficiency of their commands, and in their own ability to manage their vessels with as much freedom and certainty as Tom Shea in Newport handles his catboat?"

"We whose remnant of active life can readily be counted by months are not necessarily too old. But too old we certainly are if we fail to perceive that what the Nation demands of us is the trained faculty to direct the movements of our ships and squadrons in line of battle. I pray most reverently that such a supreme test may never come to us—but if it does come and if we have wasted our precious days in the nonessentials, such as undue idolatry of the stadimeter, then we shall go down before a more skillful foe just as the formal movements of Frederick the Great vanished into thin air before the battle tactics of Napoleon.—Army and Navy Journal.

Ideals.

He kissed her hand. She withdrew it hastily and gazed reproachfully at him.

"I didn't think it of you!" she said, almost tearfully. "I had always considered you a young man with ideals a.d."

"I—I am sorry if I have offended," he stammered. "I—"

"Well," she said bitterly, "I certainly expected you to aim higher."

So he took heart, and made new resolutions and things.

NEW PRESIDENT OF FRATERNAL CONGRESS

A. L. Herford, supreme chancellor of the Court of Honor of Springfield, Ill., was elected president by the National Fraternal congress, which met at Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 21. Mr. Herford was vice president of the congress, which is the advisory body of American fraternal beneficiary societies.

of whom he thought a great deal two chairs that were exactly alike. A lady, who had attended the wedding, met him a few days later and delicately asked him why he had sent two chairs. If he had put all his money in one chair he might have made his present appear magnificent, whereas neither of the chairs that he had purchased was especially impressive.

"I realize that," he said, "but I wanted to fix it so that the division of the spoils might be simplified when they got their divorce."

Old Racing Boat in Trade.

About a month ago there came into New York with a cargo of herring from Labrador the old cup racer Lavinia, which was the challenger in 171 against the schooner Columbia. The old cup boat is now plying between Boston and Labrador and Newfoundland ports, and she appears as rakish looking as of old, but shows the marks of more than 35 years' battling with the seas. She is still good for many years and her skipper takes great pride in her.

A Settlement.

"Are you going to settle anything on your daughter?" asked the young man with the cigarette and languid air.

"Well, it rather looks if she marries you that she is going to settle something on me," replied the parent.

oxygen to the interior as well as the exterior of the circular frame. The lamp was a success, but its inventor had never thought of adding a glass chimney, and probably never would have thought of it had not his little brother been playing in his workroom while Argand was engaged with the burning lamp. The boy had gained possession of an old bottomless flask and was amusing himself by putting it over the top of the lamp, and the flame instantly responded by shooting with increased brilliance up the narrow neck of the flask. Argand's ready brain at once caught the idea, and his lamp was perfected by the addition of a glass chimney.

Teach Swimming and Saves Lives.

But we don't teach swimming, and this is a physical art most of all important. Every school district ought to have a natatorium. Every child ought to be a swimmer before it is six years old. In the Scandinavian kingdoms that one shall learn to swim is as compulsory as that one must learn to read. When this view of the case has been better considered in this country it will be generally adopted. Then we shall not every summer be confronted by a long roll of lost lives which might have been readily saved had swimming been a universal knowledge.

MAJORITY REACHES 108,759

For the Constitution, Such is Showing of Official Count---Prohibition Majority Dwindles to 18,280---Board Squabbling Over Some Lost Precincts.

Guthrie, Ok., Oct. 9.—Canvassing the vote on the constitution and prohibition amendment was completed today, and, while not officially announced, shows the constitution to have a majority of 108,759. In this instance 252,913 votes were cast, 72,077 being against ratification. On the prohibition amendment 212,768 votes were recorded, 112,344 of which were negative, giving statewide prohibition a majority of 18,280. These figures represent the seventy-five counties, with twenty-six precincts absent out of a total of more than 2,100.

The board declined to announce the result of the count until its attitude toward the missing returns had been determined. A decision on this point was expected when the board met this morning, but instead it announced that arguments would be heard by counsel of both political parties represented.

After finishing the list of counties Mr. Cottingham of Guthrie, representing the republican organization, insisted in Van Zandt Township, Oklahoma county, which the county abstract did not show at all, and wherein, he charged, 335 republican votes had been thrown out. In the matter of canvassing the returns, the board, he thought, was entitled to the poll lists and tally sheets of precincts, instead of a statement from middlemen, which, in this instance, is the county canvassing board.

Mr. Ledbetter and Mr. King, for the democrats held that the enabling act must of necessity be construed with the Oklahoma election law, and that the constitutional convention, in prescribing the route for returns from counties to the canvassing board made a vehicle of the territorial law, which provides that returns be made by abstract, hence poll books, etc., were unnecessary. They pointed out that the enabling act was silent, except that "returns be made to the Secretary of the Territory," and as the Oklahoma law was designated by it for this elec-ed that the actual returns, not the clerk's abstracts, must be received and canvassed by the board in person, as contemplated by the enabling act. Congress, according to him, had left no opportunity for the committee present to delegate its work to seventy-five committees in as many counties.

Mr. Ledbetter of Ardmore, for the democratic party, suggested that it was the rule of law that failure to make returns did not vitiate the election when the whole vote involved would not effect the result. In this both the republican organization, through counsel, and the board concurred. Mr. Cottingham replied that it was not a question of altering the probable result, but a matter of determining whether the missing votes were legally cast, and whether illegal returns had been made here.

He called the board's attention to numerous fraud charges which the republican state committee possessed, and referred particularly to one pre-tion the method prescribed therein was proper.

In meeting Mr. Cottingham's charges of fraud they pledged the democratic organization's support in punishing the offenders.

Judge Burford announced that the board had determined at the opening that it would accept the abstracts as prima facie returns, save in counties where irregularities were apparent or shown. It was the board's intention, he said, to certify what it determined the vote to be, but that there was now a question of what constituted the returns.

Judge Clayton, the chairman, suggested that a delay of ten days or two weeks would bring all of the missing precincts in and advise the board an opportunity to send to Washington a complete statement of the election on the constitution and prohibition amendment.

He admitted that no one expected the result to be changed, but intimated that the board had a right to know why the full vote was not reported.

The board withheld judgment until tomorrow, when, Mr. Ledbetter stated, counsel would probably ask further hearing.

It is understood tonight that should the board conclude to temporarily hold up announcement of the vote all complete counties will be accepted as per abstract, and that from all incomplete counties only the missing precincts will be sought. In such event it will also determine what constitutes returns.

The board to canvass the state ticket completed but three congressional districts today, as follows:

However, finally, at a late hour, the pair was fortunate enough to find Deputy Clark Constant who fixed the papers and jerked the desired knot in their relations.

Monument Marking Landing Place of the Pilgrims.

Not since the stirring days of whale has there been as much excitement occasioned in half forgotten hamlet of Provincetown, Mass., as followed the announcement that a real live president of the United States was to honor the place with a visit.

It was to commemorate the landing of the Pilgrims that President Roosevelt and a number of prominent citizens attended the dedication of a monument to this epoch making event in history.

LIFE LINES IN THE STREETS

Furnish Safety from the Deadly Clutch of the "Bora"

That which was once Myia is now Dalmatia or rather that part of Myia which reaches to the Adriatic is Dalmatia the half-forgotten country as the Austrians call it when it fell into their hands not so many years ago.

It is one of the few bits of Europe that remain in a measure unbacked and it is still one of the beaten paths of the tourist, who himself is almost as much of a curiosity to the people as they are to him. There are seasons according to a picturesque article in Appleton's Magazine when the bora blows that wind of death as the natives call it which comes out of the blue with more than the suddenness of a tornado and shakes the earth and all that is on the earth stinging biliousness choking in the square of Trieste life lines are prominent features which the citizens must grasp when the bora clutches them and they grope their way through the whirling dust and the promiscuous missiles flying in the darkened air. But the bora goes as quickly as it comes and when it is gone the people simply excavate themselves out of the drift and think no more about the winged demon, which has left no trail whatever in the restored serenity of the sequestered sky.

HOW NOT TO EAT EGGS

Frenchman's Caustic Criticism on the American Methods.

He was a Frenchman and on his way to make his first visit to the land of Uncle Sam. At breakfast the first morning after the steamer had left Cherbourg his right hand neighbor noticed that he was watching some American who sat opposite the meal finished, inquiry was made as to the reason for the Frenchman's interest in what was going on in front of him.

"Did you see them?" he spat out—the remarks may be freely translated—did you see them eat the eggs?"

Why of course I saw them what about it?"

They broke—this in horror—they broke the eggs into cups and then mopped the mixture with a spoon and ate it."

"Yes. You see that's the way we Americans eat eggs. We don't crack the top and eat out of the shell as you do."

Oh we do too—that is some of us. We fix eggs that way for children who haven't learned table manners."

ROCKEFELLER LIVES IN FEAR.

Dread of Assassination or Robbery Always with Him.

Probably the most complete burglar alarm system in the world is installed in John D. Rockefeller's house at Cleveland. Both the burglar alarm and an intricate signaling system are tested nightly when the master is in the house, and if a defect is found an expert is immediately summoned to repair it.

It is reported, but not confirmed, that Mr. Rockefeller sleeps in a room on the top floor, the only entrance to which is through several other rooms in which trusted lieutenants are stationed. At night brilliant are lamps illuminate the grounds around the Rockefeller house, and at least three men are always on duty patrolling the premises.

Mr. Rockefeller's fear of assassination is such that even in his own house he will not sit with his back to a window. When forced to travel he will never, if it can be avoided, enter the public waiting room of a railroad station, preferring to sit in the baggage room or some other secluded place. It was not vanity, it is said,

NEW GAME FOR FAT BOY.

Cleveland Gamblers Have Devised Something Really Novel.

A bunch of small boys who were disporting themselves the other afternoon on a corner near the public square, have discovered a grand new game.

They said it was lots of fun, and it is absolutely harmless. And it is not a game that requires extensive apparatus. The only important requirement to play the game successfully is a real fat boy.

The youngsters who were at it had the fat boy. He was about as fat as a boy as one could mention. With this fat boy and a lead pencil apiece in the hands of the other boys, the participants had everything that was required for the game.

Here is the way the game is played: The first player takes his pencil and places the eraser end against the fat boy's abdomen. Then he pushes the abdomen as far back as it will go and releases the pencil. The fat and muscles bounding back into place act as a sort of catapult and hurl the pencil for six or seven feet.

Then another boy tries it, and another.

Prince Wilhelm, Sweden's Saviour Prince, who is now on a visit to this country representing his grandfather King Oscar at the Jamestown Exposition, is the innocent cause of many and bitter heart pang. These are among the ultra fashionable set which makes Newport its home and where social war has become rife over the coming of the Prince. There the keenest rivalry was displayed by the society leaders for the honor of entertaining the royal guest. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish was the victor, she having won the honor of entertaining the prince at her palace at Newport.

Corked Eggs.

"An ostrich egg," said the sailor "costs 10 cents in South Africa. It's equal to about two dozen chicken eggs and lasts close on to a week."

Out there you open your ostrich egg by making a small hole in the point. You shake out as much contents as you need and then you plug up the opening with a cork and stand the egg away in the refrigerator till it's needed again.

Plugged carefully an ostrich egg will supply a week's breakfast on lettuce without gain bad.

Bishop Potter's "Job."

To illustrate a point he was making in an address he was delivering the other day Bishop Potter told the following story. Not long ago I was staying with a friend in a country house up on the Hudson. On Sunday morning as I passed through the heavy I found a small box curled up in a big chair deeply interested in a book. "Are you going to church?" I asked. "No," he replied. "Why, I am, I said. 'Huh!' he said that's your job." —Harper's Weekly

New Fly of East Africa.

The new fly of East Africa described by W. Donitz as Cordylobia mutans was discovered by Dr. Robert Koch as parasites in the skin of rats suspected of plague. Flies hatched from the maggots in just one month. It is supposed that the eggs are laid in the earth and that the larvae attached themselves to the parts of the rats touching the ground. Larvae of another fly of the same genus are found in bolts of rail road builders in Guinea.

The new North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie arrived in New York last week upon her maiden trip. The Kronprinzessin Cecilie (Crown Princess Cecilie), is a sister vessel of steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II., which was built in 1903, and was constructed in the same yard at Stettin, Germany. She is put forward by Germany as an example of the ability of the shipbuilders of the "Fatherland."

CANADA'S CANAL TO THE SEA

GEORGIAN BAY ROUTE (BLACK LINE) COMPARED WITH THE ROUTE VIA THE ERIE CANAL (DOTTED LINE)

Many thousands of years ago the Great Lakes are supposed to have discharged their waters through the French river, Lake Nipissing and the Mattawa, Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers into the Atlantic. This is the very route that Champlain followed when he reached the inland sea and gazed over their vast expanse.

Over this route for centuries passed all the traffic between the Canada of the early days and the western outposts of the Hudson's Bay company, and this is to be the route of the Georgian Bay canal which Canada now proposes to build and which will be by far the shortest waterway between the lakes and the ocean.

The project has been in the air for years but not till now has it taken definite shape. Many questions have been involved and among them the form the canal should take. Should it be a 14 foot canal for canalboats of large size, or a 20 foot ship canal or a 30 foot ocean steamer proposition so that great ocean freighters might load at lake ports and unload in Europe?

All the questions have now been answered. For two years the Georgian Bay Canal Commission of Canada has been studying every phase of the enterprise and it is now preparing the plans for the building of the canal.

It is to be a ship canal, providing a continuous and easily navigable waterway, with a minimum depth of 21 feet from Georgian Bay to tidewater. The cost is estimated at about $105,000,000.

The fact is, there is very little canal to build. Some long stretches in the rivers must be canalized at large expenses and about thirty miles of rocky barrier and a few mud and sawdust banks must be removed, but the whole cost of connecting the lake ports with the ocean will scarcely exceed the appropriation of New York state for the improvement of the Erie canal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported as saying that as soon as the first installment of money is provided he will have the work begun at once.

This will be the nearest approach to an air line water route between the lakes and the Atlantic for which nature has provided facilities. It will make a water channel between the Soo canal and Montreal 350 miles shorter than by way of the Welland canal the line of least resistance between the lakes and the ocean.

Not a dollar will have to be spent on the route from the Soo canal the great gateway into Lake Superior, to the mouth of the French river, on the shore of Georgian Bay. The route will hug the Canadian coast passing through the North Channel landlocked because the long island of Great Manitoulin is a bulwark against the waves of Lake Huron. Thus a deep and protected channel from one to fifteen miles wide is provided from the Soo to the French river, a distance of 160 miles.

This river drains the waters of Lake Nipissing to Georgian Bay, the lake forming the summit level 70 feet above the bay. At low water the French river carries some 10,000 cubic feet of water a second out of Lake Nipissing and there will be 40 miles of canalization on this river with three short rock cuts through the rapids.

East of the lake is the divide, which is only about two miles wide and a few feet above Nipissing. Then the descent begins through two small lakes and the Mattawa river which drops 150 feet into the broad bosom of the stately Ottawa. This river, obstructed by some stretches of rapids and banks of sawdust, is otherwise broad and deep and will carry the lake fleet to the St. Lawrence a little above Montreal.

Producers and shippers in states of the union bordering the lakes have taken a great interest in this project because it promises to give them the shortest and cheapest water route to the Atlantic. Not a few western railroad men are also in hearty sympathy with the enterprise.

J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railroad said a while ago that the Georgian Bay canal would be the most popular enterprise that the Canadian government would have to carry out in many years. When it is completed, he said, we shall see the grain business from north of St. Louis and as far west as grain grows in the Platte valley taking this route to the sea.

Only 32 miles of actual canal would have to be dug, and for the remainder of the distance existing water channels could be used, with considerable dredging here and there. He said that the distance from Chicago or Duluth to Montreal by this route would be a little shorter than the lake-routes now in use between these ports and Buffalo.

When the Georgian Bay canal is completed, he predicted that grain would be carried between Chicago or Duluth and deep water at Montreal for 2 1/4 cents a bushel, and refrigerator ships drawing 18 or 20 feet of water could load direct from the packing houses at Chicago and sail to any port in the world during the season of open water of about 200 days. The St. Lawrence is open when the lakes are open.

It is thought that the plans proposed by the Canadian commission will enable powerful whaleback steamers 280 to 300 feet long, to carry in their holds and in towed barges about 12,000 tons of cargo at an average speed of about 12 miles an hour, and that the time between Chicago and Montreal will be about 103 hours. The time between Chicago and New York by the lakes and improved Erie canal route is estimated at 193 hours. The distance between Montreal and London is 2,320 miles and between New York and London 3,130 miles.

It is expected that the new canal will have a wonderful influence upon the development of the Ottawa river. It is estimated that with the completion of the canal the water power available along the river will be at least as great as that of Niagara, and for electrical purposes it will be far superior to Niagara, because the power at those falls is confined to a radius of about 50 miles, while the Ottawa river affords water power along 400 miles at convenient distances. With so much cheap power available and with its great resources of iron ore and timber the Ottawa valley is expected to develop into one of the great manufacturing centers of the continent.

The map printed here shows at a glance how much shorter the proposed new route from Chicago and Duluth to the Atlantic is than the present routes through the lakes and the Erie canal to New York.

TOUCHING THE AGE LIMIT.

Rear Admiral Goodrich Makes Some Pertinent Remarks.

In the remarks of Rear Admiral Goodrich, U. S. N., at the alumni dinner, he said:

"As I look over the body of officers I perceive no change from the general attitude which prevailed when I was young. I remember very well the time when I thought every officer over 45 years of age should be retired as too old for active service. In short, gentlemen youth is radical now as it was radical then, and age is always conservative. But in a sense, I was right when I drew the dead line at 45. Let us free our minds of cant and boldly assert that it is not so much a question of age of body as it is age of brain."

In the lower grades I recognize an enthusiasm for efficiency which causes turret officers to spend 12 hours out of the 24 with their guns and mounts and connections, not reluctantly but cheerfully. Each aspires to win the blue ribbon of the service and write his name first on the competitive list."

Do their captains share this spirit and strive to excel their colleagues in the happiness of their ships' companies, the efficiency of their commands, and in their own ability to manage their vessels with as much freedom and certainty as Tom Shea in New port handles his catboat?"

"We whose remnant of active life can readily be counted by months are not necessarily too old. But too old we certainly are if we fail to perceive that what the Nation demands of us is the trained faculty to direct the movements of our ships and squadrons in line of battle. I pray most reverently that such a supreme test may never come to us—but if it does come and if we have wasted our precious days in the nonessentials, such as undue idolatry of the stadimeter, then we shall go down before a more skillful foe just as the formal movements of Frederick the Great vanished into thin air before the battle tactics of Napoleon—Army and Navy Journal.

Ideals.

He kissed her hand. She withdrew it hastily and gazed reproachfully at him.

"I didn't think it of you," she said, almost tearfully. "I had always considered you a young man with ideals."

"—I am sorry if I have offended," he stammered. "—"

"Well," she said bitterly, "I certainly expected you to aim higher."

So he took heart, and made new resolutions and things.

NEW PRESIDENT OF FRATERNAL CONGRESS

A. L. Hereford, supreme chancellor of the Court of Honor of Springfield, Ill., was elected president by the National Fraternal congress which met at Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 21. Mr. Hereford was vice president of the congress, which is the advisory body of American fraternal beneficiary societies.

of whom he thought a great deal two chairs that were exactly alike. A lady who had attended the wedding met him a few days later and delicately asked him why he had sent two chairs. If he had put all his money in one chair he might have made his present appear magnificent, whereas neither of the chairs that he had purchased was especially impressive.

"I realize that," he said, "but I wanted to fix it so that the division of the spoils might be simplified when they got their divorce."

Old Racing Boat in Trade.

About a month ago there came into New York with a cargo of herring from Labrador the old cup racer Lavonia, which was the challenger in 171 against the schooner Columbia. The old cup boat is now plying between Boston and Labrador and New foundland ports, and she appears as rakish looking as of old, but shows the marks of more than 35 years' battling with the seas. She is still good for many years and her skipper takes great pride in her.

A Settlement.

"Are you going to settle anything on your daughter?" asked the young man with the cigarette and languid air. "Well, it rather looks if she marries you that she is going to settle something on me," replied the parent.

oxygen to the interior as well as the exterior of the circular frame. The lamp was a success but its inventor had never thought of adding a glass chimney, and probably never would have thought of it had not his little brother been playing in his workroom while Argand was engaged with the burning lamp. The boy had gained possession of an old bottomless flask and was amusing himself by putting it over the top of the lamp, and the flame instantly responded by shooting with increased brilliancy up the narrow neck of the flask. Argand's ready brain at once caught the idea, and his lamp was perfected by the addition of a glass chimney.

Teach Swimming and Saves Lives.

But we don't teach swimming, and this is a physical art most of all important. Every school district ought to have a bathorium. Every child ought to be a swimmer before it is six years old. In the Scandinavian kingdoms that one shall learn to swim is as compulsory as that one must learn to read. When this view of the case has been better considered in this country it will be generally adopted. Then we shall not every summer be confronted by a long roll of lost lives which might have been readily saved had swimming been a universal knowledge.

MAJORITY REACHES 108,759

For the Constitution, Such is Showing of Official Count---Prohibition Majority Dwindles to 18,280---Board Squabbling Over Some Lost Precincts.

Guthrie, Ok., Oct. 9.—Canvassing the vote on the constitution and prohibition amendment was completed today, and, while not officially announced, shows the constitution to have a majority of 108,759. In this instance 252,913 votes were cast, 72,077 being against ratification. On the prohibition amendment 212,768 votes were recorded, 112,244 of which were negative, giving statewide prohibition a majority of 18,280. These figures represent the seventy-five counties, with twenty-six precincts absent out of a total of more than 2,100.

The board declined to announce the result of the count until its attitude toward the missing returns had been determined. A decision on this point was expected when the board met this morning, but instead it announced that arguments would be heard by counsel of both political parties represented.

After finishing the list of counties Mr. Cottingham of Guthrie, representing the republican organization, insisted that the board had a right to know why the full vote was not reported. The board withheld judgment until tomorrow, when, Mr. Ledbetter stated, counsel would probably ask further hearing.

It is understood tonight that should the board conclude to temporarily hold up announcement of the vote all complete counties will be accepted as per abstract, and that from all incomplete counties only the missing precincts will be sought. In such event it will also determine what constitutes returns. The board to canvass the state ticket completed but three congressional districts today, as follows: First District—McGuire (Rep.) 22,

ed that the actual returns, not the clerk's abstracts, must be received and canvassed by the board in person, as contemplated by the enabling act. Congress, according to him, had left no opportunity for the committee present to delegate its work to seventy-five committees in as many counties. Mr. Ledbetter of Ardmore, for the democratic party, suggested that it was the rule of law that failure to make returns did not vitiate the election when the whole vote involved would not effect the result. In this both the republican organization, through counsel, and the board concurred. Mr. Cottingham replied that it was not a question of altering the probable result, but a matter of determining whether the missing votes were legally cast, and whether illegal returns had been made here. He called the board's attention to numerous fraud charges which the republican state committee possessed, and referred particularly to one pre-

tion the method prescribed therein was proper.

In meeting Mr. Cottingham's charges of fraud they pledged the democratic organization's support in punishing the offenders.

Judge Burford announced that the board had determined at the opening that it would accept the abstracts as prima facie returns, save in counties where irregularities were apparent or shown. It was the board's intention, he said, to certify what it determined the vote to be, but that there was now a question of what constituted the returns.

Judge Clayton, the chairman, suggested that a delay of ten days or two weeks would bring all of the missing precincts in and before the board an opportunity to send to Washington a complete statement of the election on the constitution and prohibition amendment. He admitted that no one expected the result to be cheery, but intimated that the board had a right to know why the full vote was not reported.

The board withheld judgment until tomorrow, when, Mr. Ledbetter stated, counsel would probably ask further hearing.

It is understood tonight that should the board conclude to temporarily hold up announcement of the vote all complete counties will be accepted as per abstract, and that from all incomplete counties only the missing precincts will be sought. ### Jokers Harrass Negro Lovers.

A couple of negro lovers experienced a series of tribulations last night in trying to get married. They fell into the hands of Jailer Adams and some more of the boys down at the court house, who couldn't resist the temptation to have some fun out of them by stirring them hither and thither to the wrong place for getting married.

However, finally, at a late hour, the pair was fortunate enough to find Deputy Clerk Constant who fixed the papers and jerked the desired knot in their relations.

COMMEMORATES LANDING OF PILGRIMS

Monument Marking Landing Place of the Pilgrims.

Not since the stirring days of white has there been as much excitement occasioned in half-forgotten hamlet of Provincetown, Mass., as followed the announcement that a real live president of the United States was to honor the place with a visit.

It was to commemorate the landing of the Pilgrims that President Roosevelt and a number of prominent citizens attended the dedication of a monument to this epoch-making event in history.

ROCKEFELLER LIVES IN FEAR.

Dread of Assassination or Robbery Always with Him.

Probably the most complete burglar alarm system in the world is installed in John D. Rockefeller's house at Cleveland. Both the burglar alarm and an intricate signaling system are tested nightly when the master is in the house, and if a defect is found an expert is immediately summoned to repair it.

It is reported, but not confirmed, that Mr. Rockefeller sleeps in a room on the top floor, the only entrance to which is through several other rooms in which trusted lieutenants are stationed. At night brilliant lamps illuminate the grounds around the Rockefeller house, and at least three men are always on duty patrolling the premises.

Mr. Rockefeller's fear of assassination is such that even in his own house he will not sit with his back to a window. When forced to travel he will never, if it can be avoided, enter the public waiting room of a railroad station, preferring to sit in the baggage room or some other secluded place. It was not vanity, it is said,

NEW GAME FOR FAT BOY.

Cleveland Gamblers Have Devised Something Really Novel.

A bunch of small boys who were disporting themselves the other afternoon on a corner near the public square, have discovered a grand new game.

They said it was lots of fun, and it is absolutely harmless. And it is not a game that requires extensive apparatus. The only important requirement to play the game successfully is a real fat boy.

The youngsters who were at it had the fat boy lie about as fat a boy as one could mention. With this fat boy and a lead pencil apiece in the hands of the other boys, the participants had everything that was required for the game.

Here is the way the game is played: The first player takes his pencil and places the eraser end against the fat boy's abdomen. Then he pushes the abdomen as far back as it will go and releases the pencil. The fat and muscles bounding back into place act as a sort of catapult and hurl the pencil for six or seven feet.

Then another boy tries it, and an-

CANADA'S CANAL TO THE SEA

GEORGIAN BAY ROUTE (BLACK LINE) COMPARED WITH THE ROUTE VIA THE ERIE CANAL (DOTTED LINE)

Many thousands of years ago the Great Lakes are supposed to have discharged their waters through the French river, Lake Nipissing and the Mattawa, Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers into the Atlantic. This is the very route that Champlain followed when he reached the inland seas and gazed over their vast expanse.

Over this route for centuries passed all the traffic between the Canada of the early days and the western outposts of the Hudson's Bay company, and this is to be the route of the Georgian Bay canal which Canada now proposes to build and which will be by far the shortest waterway between the lakes and the ocean.

The project has been in the air for years but not till now has it taken definite shape. Many questions have been involved and among them the form the canal should take. Should it be a 14 foot canal for canalboats of large size, or a 20 foot ship canal or a 30 foot ocean steamer proposition so that great ocean freighters might load at lake ports and unload in Europe?

All the questions have now been answered. For two years, the Georgian Bay Canal Commission of Canada has been studying every phase of the enterprise and it is now preparing the plans for the building of the canal.

It is to be a ship canal, providing a continuous and easily navigable waterway, with a minimum depth of 21 feet from Georgian Bay to tidewater. The cost is estimated at about $107,000,000. The fact is, there is very little canal to build. Some long stretches in the rivers must be canalized at large expenses and about thirty miles of rocky barrier and a few mud and sawdust banks must be removed, but the whole cost of connecting the lake ports with the ocean will scarcely exceed the appropriation of New York state for the improvement of the Erie canal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported as saying that as soon as the first installment of money is provided he will have the work begun at once.

This will be the nearest approach to an air line water route between the lakes and the Atlantic for which nature has provided facilities. It will make a water channel between the Soo canal and Montreal 350 miles shorter than by way of the Welland canal, the line of least resistance between the lakes and the ocean.

Not a dollar will have to be spent on the route from the Soo canal the great gateway into Lake Superior, to the mouth of the French river, on the shore of Georgian Bay. The route will hug the Canadian coast passing through the North Channel, Lake Huron, because the long island of Great Manitoulin is a bulwark against the waves of Lake Huron. Thus a deep and protected channel from one to fifteen miles wide is provided from the Soo to the French river, a distance of 160 miles.

This river drains the waters of Lake Nipissing to Georgian Bay, the lake forming the summit level 70 feet above the bay. At low water the French river carries some 10,000 cubic feet of water a second out of Lake Nipissing and there will be 40 miles of canalization on this river with three short rock cuts through the rapids. East of the lake is the divide, which is only about two miles wide and a few feet above Nipissing. Then the descent begins through two small lakes and the Mattawa river which drops 160 feet into the broad bosom of the stately Ottawa. This river, obstructed by some stretches of rapids and banks of sawdust, is otherwise broad and deep and will carry the lake fleet to the St. Lawrence a little above Montreal.

Producers and shippers in states of the union bordering the lakes have taken a great interest in this project because it promises to give them the shortest and cheapest water route to the Atlantic. Not a few western railroad men are also in hearty sympathy with the enterprise.

J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railroad said a while ago that the Georgian Bay canal would be the most popular enterprise that the Canadian government would have to carry out in many years. When it is completed, he said, we shall see the grain business from north of St. Louis and as far west as grain grows in the Platte valley taking this route to the sea.

Only 32 miles of actual canal would have to be dug, and for the remainder of the distance existing water channels could be used, with considerable dredging here and there. He said that the distance from Chicago or Duluth to Montreal by this route would be a little shorter than the lake-routes now in use between these ports and Buffalo.

When the Georgian Bay canal is completed, he predicted that grain would be carried between Chicago or Duluth and deep water at Montreal for 2 1/2 cents a bushel, and refrigerator ships drawing 19 or 20 feet of water could load direct from the packing houses at Chicago and sail to any port in the world during the season of open water of about 200 days. The St. Lawrence is open when the lakes are open.

It is thought that the plans proposed by the Canadian commission will enable powerful whaleback steamers 250 to 300 feet long, to carry in their holds, and in towed barges about 12,000 tons of cargo at an average speed of about 12 miles an hour, and that the time between Chicago and Montreal will be about 103 hours. The time between Chicago and New York by the lakes and improved Erie canal route is estimated at 193 hours. The distance between Montreal and London is 2,820 miles and between New York and London 3,130 miles.

It is expected that the new canal will have a wonderful influence upon the development of the Ottawa river. It is estimated that with the completion of the canal the water power available along the river will be at least as great as that of Niagara, and for electrical purposes it will be far superior to Niagara, because the power at those falls is confined to a radius of about 50 miles, while the Ottawa river affords water power along 400 miles at convenient distances. With so much cheap power available and with its great resources of iron ore and timber the Ottawa valley is expected to develop into one of the great manufacturing centers of the continent.

The map printed here shows at a glance how much shorter the proposed new route from Chicago and Duluth to the Atlantic is than the present routes through the lakes and the Erie canal to New York.

TOUCHING THE AGE LIMIT.

Rear Admiral Goodrich Makes Some Pertinent Remarks.

In the remarks of Rear Admiral Goodrich, U. S. N., at the alumni dinner he said:

As I look over the body of officers I perceive no change from the general attitude which prevailed when I was young. I remember very well the time when I thought every officer over 45 years of age should be retired as too old for active service. In short, gentlemen youth is radical now as it was radical then, and age is always conservative. But in a sense, I was right when I drew the dead line at 45. Let us free our minds of cant and boldly assert that it is not so much a question of age of body as it is age of brain.

In the lower grades I recognize an enthusiasm for efficiency which causes turret officers to spend 12 hours out of the 24 with their guns and mounts and connections, not reluctantly but cheerfully. Each aspires to win the blue ribbon of the service and write his name first on the competitive list.

Do their captains share this spirit and strive to excel their colleagues in the happiness of their ships' companies, the efficiency of their commands, and in their own ability to manage their vessels with as much freedom and certainty as Tom Shea in New port handles his catboat?

We whose remnant of active life can readily be counted by months are not necessarily too old. But too old we certainly are if we fail to perceive that what the Nation demands of us is the trained faculty to direct the movements of our ships and squadrons in line of battle. I pray most reverently that such a supreme test may never come to us—but if it does come and if we have wasted our precious days in the nonessentials, such as undue idolatry of the stadimeter, then we shall go down before a more skillful foe just as the formal movements of Frederick the Great vanished into thin air before the battle tactics of Napoleon—Army and Navy Journal.

Ideals. He kissed her hand. She withdrew it hastily and gazed reproachfully at him. "I didn't think it of you," she said, almost tearfully. "I had always considered you a young man with ideals and—" "I am sorry if I have offended," he stammered. "—" "Well," she said bitterly, "I certainly expected you to aim higher." So he took heart, and made new resolutions and things.

SWEDISH PRINCE ON VISIT TO AMERICA

PRINCE WILHELM

Prince Wilhelm Sweden's Sallet Prince" who is now on a visit to this country representing his grandfather King Oscar at the Jamestown Exposition, is the innocent cause of many and bitter heart pang. These are among the ultra fashionable set which makes Newport its home and where social war has become rife over the coming of the Prince. There the keenest rivalry was displayed by the society leaders for the honor of entertaining the royal guest. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish was the victor, she having won the honor of entertaining the prince at her palace at Newport.

which prompted him to buy his new famous wig, but the fact that his baldness made him too easily recognized. The oil magnate has two trusted bodyguards, one an Irishman and the other a Swiss. A century or more ago Irish and Swiss bodyguards were the favorites of royalty.

Corked Eggs.

"An ostrich egg said the sailor 'costs 10 cents in South Africa. Its equal to about two dozen chicken eggs and lasts close on to a week."

Out there you open your ostrich egg by making a small hole in the point. You shake out as much contents as you need and then you plug up the opening with a cork and stand the egg away in the refrigerator till it's needed again.

Plugged carefully an ostrich egg will supply a week's breakfast one letter without going bad.

"That makes two people you've killed in my jurisdiction," he said.

Bishop Potter's "Job."

To illustrate a point he was making in an address he was delivering the other day Bishop Potter told the following story. Not long ago I was staying with a friend in a country house up on the Hudson. On Sunday morning as I passed through the li-brary I found a small boy curled up in a big chair deeply interested in a book. Are you going to church, 'Pom' I asked. No, he replied. Why, I am, I said. Huh, he said that's your job'—Harper's Weekly.

New Fly of East Africa.

The new fly of East Africa described by W. Donitz as Cordylobia mutum was discovered by Dr. Robert Koch as parasites in the skin of rats suspected of plague. Flies hatched from the maggots in just one month. It is supposed that the eggs are laid in the earth and that the larvae attached themselves to the parts of the rats touching the ground. Larvae of another fly of the same genus are found in holes of railroad builders in Guinea.

PRIDE OF GERMAN SHIPBUILDERS

The new North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie arrived in New York last week upon her maiden trip. The Kronprinzessin Cecilie (Crown Princess Cecilie), is a sister vessel of steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II, which was built in 1903, and was constructed in the same yard at Stettin, Germany. She is put forward by Germany as an example of the ability of the shipbuilders of the "Fatherland."

NEW PRESIDENT OF FRATERNAL CONGRESS

A. L. Hereford, supreme chancellor of the Court of Honor of Springfield, Ill., was elected president by the National Fraternal congress which met at Buffalo, N. Y., on Aug. 21. Mr. Hereford was vice president of the congress, which is the advisory body of American fraternal beneficiary societies.

of whom he thought a great deal two chairs that were exactly alike. A lady who had attended the wedding met him a few days later and delicately asked him why he had sent two chairs. If he had put all his money in one chair he might have made his present appear magnificent, whereas neither of the chairs that he had purchased was especially impressive.

"I realize that," he said, "but I wanted to fix it so that the division of the spoils might be simplified when they got their divorce."

Old Racing Boat in Trade. About a month ago there came into New York with a cargo of herring from Labrador the old cup racer Lavonia, which was the challenger in 171 against the schooner Columbia. The old cup boat is now plying between Boston and Labrador and New foundland ports, and she appears as rakish looking as of old, but shows the marks of more than 35 years' battling with the seas. She is still good for many years and her skipper takes great pride in her.

A Settlement. "Are you going to settle anything on your daughter?" asked the young man with the cigarette and languid air. "Well, it rather looks if she marries you that she is going to settle something on me," replied the parent.

oxygen to the interior as well as the exterior of the circular frame. The lamp was a success but its inventor had never thought of adding a glass chimney, and probably never would have thought of it had not his little brother been playing in his workroom while Argand was engaged with the burning lamp. The boy had gained possession of an old bottomless flask and was amusing himself by putting it over the top of the lamp, and the flame instantly responded by shooting with increased brilliance up the narrow neck of the flask. Argand's ready brain at once caught the idea, and his lamp was perfected by the addition of a glass chimney.

Teach Swimming and Saves Lives.

But we don't teach swimming, and this is a physical art most of all important. Every school district ought to have a natatorium. Every child ought to be a swimmer before it is six years old. In the Scandinavian kingdoms that one shall learn to swim is as compulsory as that one must learn to read. When this view of the case has been better considered in this country it will be generally adopted. Then we shall not every summer be confronted by a long roll of lost lives which might have been readily saved had swimming been a universal knowledge.
